CONTENTS.—Number of schools reporting—Blind and deaf institutes—Instructors and enrollment—Control—Libraries—Statistical tables.

NUMBER OF SCHOOLS REPORTING.

Reports were received for the year 1921-22 from 64 schools for the blind. Eight schools, reporting a total of 89 instructors and 629 pupils in 1917-18, did not send reports for 1921-22. Eleven schools having a total of 44 instructors and 325 pupils, not reporting in 1917-18, sent reports for 1921-22. Nine schools not reporting in 1921-22, but included in earlier reports, are listed here, making in all 73 schools for the blind. The nine schools are as follows:

- Alabama School for the Blind, Talladega, Ala.
- Alabama School for the Negro Blind and Deaf, Talladega, Ala.
- Nursery for the Blind, Farmington, Conn.
- Illinois School for the Blind, Jacksonville, Ill.
- Michigan Employment School for the Blind, Saginaw, Mich.
- Missouri School for the Blind, St. Louis, Mo.
- Cleveland School for the Blind, Cleveland, Ohio.
- Toledo Public School Classes for the Blind, Toledo, Ohio.
- Catholic Institute for the Blind, One hundred and seventy-fifth Street and University Place, New York, N. Y.

BLIND AND DEAF INSTITUTES.

Twelve of the State schools reporting are for both blind and deaf students. The data given in the tables of this report are for the blind only. The States reporting schools of this kind are as follows: Arizona, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Maryland (colored), Montana, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas (colored), Virginia (both white and colored), and West Virginia.

INSTRUCTORS AND ENROLLMENT.

The 64 institutions report a total of 722 instructors and 4,947 students in 1921-22. If there are included the last available data for the nine schools for which there is no 1921-22 report, the number of instructors is 816, and the number of students 5,602.

CONTROL.

Forty-three of the institutions included in this report are State schools. One public institution is in Porto Rico. Fourteen are parts of city school systems. Six are private institutions. Three States, Connecticut, Maine, and Maryland, report private schools supported in part by State appropriations. Three private institutions, The Perkins Institute, New York Institute for the Education of the Blind, and Brooklyn Home for Blind, Crippled, and Defective Children, report State aid for students sent them by the States. A list of all institutions is given in Table 5.

LIBRARIES.

These institutions report libraries containing 140,905 books with raised type, and 61,785 printed books. The 51 schools having blind students only report 130,305 books with raised type, and 54,817 printed books. Three institutions say they have no libraries, and four others failed to report upon libraries.
